A GAIN FOR LICENSE

The greatest interest in the "little town election" yesterday, pertained to the liquor license question, and the town in which the strongest fight was made, was Winchester, in which Winchester is located. A year ago, it gave "no license" a majority of 98; this year it returns to "license" by 124. License makes a net gain of six votes.

DOUBLE-INCOME TAXES

Massachusetts collects an income tax and has done so for 50 years. The State Republican convention, held on Saturday last, adopted a resolution which, after citing this fact, says: "The Republican Congress has submitted a constitutional amendment to determine whether or not the right to levy an income tax, now denied by the Federal Constitution, shall be given to the United States government. The question therefore presented to the people of this state is not the question of the imposition of an income tax, but rather, of its disposition, or else it is the question of a double income tax. It is a question whether such a tax shall be collected for local uses or for national uses, or else it is a question whether one such tax shall be collected for local uses and another for national uses. We believe that this question is one that should be decided by the Legislature, not as a political issue, but as a practical question. Of course, it is not yet known whether the proposed constitutional amendment will be ratified by the voters; should it fail, the question raised in the resolution will not apply. Should the amendment be ratified, Massachusetts will be confronted by a question of double taxation—income taxes levied by both the Federal and State governments—and the issue will be whether or not the State shall repeal its tax. From the last clause of the resolution, it is not unreasonable to infer that the Massachusetts Republican leaders will take into consideration as the determining factor whether the aggregate of the two income taxes will be too heavy a burden—in commercial phrase, whether it would be more than the market will bear. It is perhaps also a legitimate conclusion that Massachusetts will vote against the constitutional amendment.

Towns which on Monday changed from "no license" to "license" will at once come under the new law limiting saloons to one to each 500 inhabitants. Such towns stand differently from those which are already for "license," in these towns, licenses may be renewed, but no new ones issued until the number of saloons shall be less than one to 500 inhabitants. The population is determined by the last U. S. census, that of 1900.

A few days ago, the Farmer referred to the private of the Republican party as mere automata in the hands of the local machine. Several of them have protested against this characterization, and yet we cannot, without departing from the strict rule of veracity, withdraw it. In reality, it is a kid glove fit—the machine is the party in so far as the making of nominations and the construction of policies are concerned; the private merely registers the machine's decisions at the polls.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce which has strongly opposed to the corporate income tax, says: "All corporations except national banks are organized under state laws. Nearly all of them are engaged in business which they conduct within the jurisdiction of states alone, though what some produce or deal in may enter into interstate commerce, which as such is subject to federal regulation. What business has the federal government to 'secure most valuable information' in respect to their conduct and their financial condition? What right has it to investigate 'fully and in detail their course of business,' except so far as they may directly engage in commerce among the several states or with foreign nations? Is it a legitimate use of the taxing power thus to invade the jurisdiction of states in matters that are by the constitution 'reserved' to them and the people?"

Republican Mayoral Candidate Barnard of New York city has adopted an excellent campaign plan which is worthy of acceptance by all candidates. For an hour each evening, from 5:15 to 6:15, he will be at home to all comers. He expects to thereby get "good pointers" for his campaign, but voters who desire first-hand information as to his policies if elected, will have an opportunity of asking questions. This is the possible feature of these "at homes" which was in mind when the plan received our commendation. If in this city Mayor Lee should be re-nominated and should adopt this same plan, his critics might say:

some embarrassing questions, but should he answer them in good faith, the results might be beneficial to the city.

Boody, McEllan & Co., appear to believe that call money rates will be higher, not very high, but "high enough to discourage the carrying on speculation of many stocks at present figures."

The reason given for higher rates is the increasing demands of general business; in other words, the volume of currency is insufficient for present conditions, and the demand must be checked by higher rates. On the other hand, when the heavily increased and still increasing cost of living is under discussion, we are told that the increased production of gold is the cause—that is, that dollars have become so numerous that prices must advance in order to utilize them. We find difficulty in harmonizing these two theories, one of which asserts that there is not enough, and the other that there is too much, money.

$450,000 FOR YALE GIFT OF SLOANES

William D. and Henry T. of New York Endow Laboratory Fund for Study of Physics.

A. G. VANDERBILT CONTRIBUTES $25,000 MORE

New Haven, Oct. 5.—William D. Sloane and Henry T. Sloane of New York have given $450,000 jointly to Yale University to build, equip, and endow a laboratory for the study of physics. The bequest was announced at the fall meeting of the university corporation yesterday. It was accepted with appreciation not only of the value of the gift but of the effort made by the donors to stimulate the university pride at Yale.

It is stipulated that the laboratory shall be used by the academic and scientific departments of the university. It will be the only laboratory of its kind at Yale to be thrown open for general university use. As the gift is a year ago members of the family of the late John Sloane of New York gave $100,000 to Yale, and yesterday's gift brings up the total of benefactions of the family to approximately $750,000. The site for the new laboratory has not been selected. The gift of $50,000 from Alfred G. Vanderbilt for general endowment purposes was announced. This is the second gift of $25,000 from Mr. Vanderbilt.

To the endowment of the Yale School of Forestry $15,000 was added by George Hewitt Meyers, an alumnus. This subscription will enable the university to fulfill its conditions with the general education board, from which the university is receiving assistance. Among other gifts which the university has received is a fund left by the late Charles H. Farnam of New Haven, the income of which, amounting to $4,000 a year, is to be devoted to the department of history. The election of Prof. William Reynolds Vance to the Chair of Testamentary Law and Insurance in the Yale Law School was announced. Prof. Vance is dean of the law department of George Washington University in Washington, and was formerly dean of the law department of Washington and Lee University. He will assume his duties at Yale next year. Dr. Albert Siebert has been appointed to the position of German language instructor in German at Yale for this year. A committee was selected to choose a successor to the late McClung, whose resignation as treasurer takes effect Oct. 31.

PUBLIC OPINION

To the Editor of the Farmer, Sir:—Will you kindly publish the following lines: Property owners in Orchard street have been made angry, and put to considerable trouble, by some persons evidently young boys, who out of thoughtlessness or malicious intent have seen fit to destroy the hedges which surround their property. The case has been repeated all summer, and patience ceases to be a virtue. Those persons who deliberately jump into a certain hedge on Friday evening, (Oct. 1, 1909) and if the practice is not stopped they will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

PROF. TWEEDY SPEAKS

The opening address of the Yale Divinity school was made by Professor Hiram Tweedy, recently appointed to the school, formerly a pastor in the South church here, to a large gathering of the students of the divinity school and their friends. The speaker was present and introduced the speaker. His topic was, "The Ministry of Music in Worship." He showed how necessary musical accomplishment was to the young divine, and also what a great aid to the service, good singing and other music proved.

HORSEMAN BRINGS SUIT

New Haven, Oct. 5.—J. H. Harnar, well known horseman of this city and owner of Allen Wilson, has brought suit against the Housatonic Agricultural society for $5,000 damages. His horse, Allen Wilson, had been engaged by the agricultural society to race against Vesta Boy at the Great Barrington fair recently, but before the time for the race to take place the society's agent for the horse, declared the race off. Mr. Harnar says he could get no satisfactory explanation for the action and so he brings the suit.

FASHIONS AND FADS

Net is a material in great favor with Frenchwomen for tea gowns. There is an ever-increasing tendency toward the skirt that is draped. Street suits are to continue much as they have been in general design. As regards material and colors in the fall styles, black reigns supreme. Blouses opening at one side have started a fashion for one-sided jabots. Quills are much used to trim walking hats. They are very long and very odd.

OLD-TIME RULES FOR MAIL CARRIERS

TERMS OF CONTRACTS MADE BY GIDEON GRANGER 100 YEARS AGO

A Mail Once a Week Was Considered Reasonable Then in This State

SUNDAY TRAVEL BARRED IN ALL CONTRACTS

It is a far cry from the mail driver and mail coach of 1809 to the fast mail train and automobile of today, says the Hartford Courant, and the lightning aeroplane express of the future. This is evident from a study of some old post office department records which recently were brought to light from the musty files of the past century. Where there is now a daily mail delivery to practically every city, town and village in Connecticut, not to mention a house-to-house delivery in cities and rural districts a hundred years ago the people counted themselves lucky if the mail was delivered to their particular community once or twice a week, or even less frequently. A century ago, when Gideon Granger was postmaster general, he used to make contracts for carrying the mail between various points in Connecticut and other States, which provided that "none other than a free white person" should be employed in conveying the mail. Fines of $1 to $5 were assessed for delays or failure to deliver in accordance with the contracts and fifteen minutes was allowed for opening and closing the mail at most post offices.

There were weekly mails from Hartford to New York, sixty-nine hours being required to make the trip. Twenty-eight hours were necessary to complete the mail trip from New London to Hartford, no traveling being done on Sunday. Following are some of the principal mail routes and schedules in Connecticut 100 years ago: From Hartford, by Simsbury, Granby, Litchfield, Sandford, and New Marlboro, to Stockbridge, once a week. Leave Hartford every Thursday at 6 a. m. and arrive at Stockbridge on Friday by 2 p. m. Leave Stockbridge every Tuesday noon, and arrive at Hartford on Wednesday by 6 a. m.

From Hartford, by Wintonbury (now Bloomfield), Canton, New Hartford, Winchester, Norfolk, Canaan, Sheffield, Hillsdale and Claverack, to Hudson, once a week. Leave Hartford every Thursday at 6 a. m. and arrive at Hudson on Saturday by 10 a. m. Leave Hudson every Friday at 2 p. m. and arrive at Hartford the next Monday by 7 p. m. From Hartford, by Farmington, Hartwick, Litchfield, Washington, New Milford, Danbury, and Bedford, to New York, once a week. Leave Hartford every Tuesday at 2 p. m., arrive at Litchfield on Wednesday by 9 a. m., at Danbury by 8 p. m., and at New York on Friday by 11 a. m. Returning leave New York every Friday at 6 p. m., arrive at Danbury by 9 a. m., at Litchfield by 8 p. m., and at Hartford by 10 a. m. on Tuesday.

From Hartford, by Cornwall, Sharon, to Poughkeepsie, once a week. Leave Litchfield every Wednesday at 2 p. m., arrive at Sharon by 7 p. m., and at Poughkeepsie on Thursday by 2 p. m. Leave Poughkeepsie on Thursday at 5 p. m. and arrive at Litchfield on Saturday by noon.

From Hartford, by Glastonbury, Colchester and Montville, to New London, once a week. Leave Hartford every Thursday at 1 p. m. and arrive at New London on Friday by 5 p. m. Leave New London every Saturday at 9 a. m. and arrive at Hartford on Monday by 9 a. m.

From Hartford, by East Hartford, Hebron, Lebanon and Norwich, to Chelsea, twice a week. Leave Hartford every Wednesday and Friday at 5 a. m., and arrive at Chelsea by 5 p. m. Leave Chelsea every Tuesday and Thursday at 5 a. m. and arrive at Hartford by 5 p. m.

From Hartford, by Coventry, Windham and Canterbury, to Plainfield, once a week. Leave Hartford every Thursday at 2 p. m. and arrive at Plainfield by 5 p. m. Leave Plainfield every Wednesday at 6 a. m. and arrive at Hartford on Thursday by 10 a. m.

From Norwich, by Canterbury and Brooklyn, to Pomfret, once a week. Leave Pomfret every Friday at 4 a. m. and arrive at Norwich by 10 a. m. Leave Norwich every Friday at 2 p. m. and arrive at Pomfret by 8 p. m.

From Middletown, by Middle Haddam, East Haddam, Haddam and Pettipiece, to Saybrook, once a week. Leave Middletown every Friday at 4 a. m. and arrive at Chelsea by 5 p. m. m. Leave Saybrook every Saturday at 5 a. m. and arrive at Middletown by 6 p. m.

From New Haven, by Cheshire and Southington, to Farmington, once a week. Leave New Haven every Thursday at 10 a. m. and arrive at Farmington by 7 p. m. Leave Farmington every Wednesday at 1 p. m. and arrive at New Haven on Thursday by 8 a. m. expense that may be occasioned thereby. Fifteen minutes shall be allowed for opening and closing the mails at all offices where no particular time is specified.

For every thirty minutes delay, (unavoidable accidents excepted) in arriving after the time prescribed in any contract the contractor shall forfeit $1. And if the delay continues until the departure of any depending mail, whereby the mails destined for such depending mail lose a trip an additional forfeiture of $15 shall be incurred. And whenever a lost trip ensues, from whatever circumstances, the amount to be paid to the contractor for a regular trip is to be deducted from his pay.

Newspapers as well as letters are to be sent in the mail, and if any person making proposals desires to carry newspapers other than those conveyed in the mail, for his own emolument, he must state in his proposals for what sum he will carry with the emolument for what sum without that emolument.

Should any person making proposals desire an alteration of the times of arrival and departure above specified, he must state in his proposals the alteration desired, and the difference they will make in the terms of the contract. Persons making proposals are desired to state their prices by the year. Those who contract will receive their pay quarterly, in the months of August, November, February and May, in one month after the expiration of each quarter.

No other than a free white person shall be employed to convey the mail. Where the proposer intends to convey the mail in the body of a stage carriage, he is desired to state it in his proposals.

The postmaster general reserves to himself the right of declaring any contract at an end whenever one failure happens which amounts to the loss of a trip.

The contract for the above routes are to be in operation on the first day of April next, and are to continue in force for two years.

GIDEON GRANGER, Postmaster General. General Post Office, Oct. 31, 1808.

Hemingway Estate Inventories at $324,353

The inventory of the estate of the late William H. Hemingway of New Haven has been filed in the probate court, and it showed a total of $324,453. The most valuable items were Hemingway and W. P. Niles and the executor are W. D. Hemingway and Ernest H. Crawford.

One of the Handsomest window displays ever installed by a cigar store in this city, is that which advertises the L. C. S. cigar, at Eckler and company's store on Main, opposite John street. The display is a beautiful sign transparency, about four feet long by three and a half feet wide, and made of var colored glass. In the center of the display is a white feather, the trade mark of the makers of the L. C. S. cigar, and this is surrounded by a wide border of deep maroon.
